FAITH’S ROLE WITHIN THE ROSC
DEVELOPMENT OF RECOVERY IS BEAUTIFUL

Recovery is Beautiful BluePrint, a five-year plan to transition Ohio’s local community mental health and addiction service systems into Recovery-Oriented Systems of Care (ROSC).

This Blueprint is a framework where Ohio Boards are the Recovery-Oriented System of Care “hub” for their local communities.

There is coordination across systems to ensure that local entities are prepared to offer community-based mental health and addiction services, and recovery supports that are person-centered to meet the needs of individuals working toward recovery.
IT STARTED WITH A SIMPLE QUESTION

WHAT CAN THE “FAITH COMMUNITY” DO TO HELP ME?
Attorney General Mike DeWine of Ohio
BODY, MIND, AND SPIRIT

• Studies have shown that spirituality and religion can play a role in how an individual adult or child copes with being sick, may influence medical decisions that are made, and may have an impact on the medical outcome”.

17 Essential Elements for Recovery-Oriented Systems of Care – “FAITH’S FIT”

...systems need to address the treatment, recovery and other support needs of families and other allies.

...nested in the community for the purpose of enhancing the availability of support capacities of families, intimate social networks, community-based institutions, and other people in recovery.

Individuals will have a full range of stage-appropriate services from which to choose at any point in the recovery process.

There will be recognition that beliefs and customs are diverse and can impact the outcomes of recovery efforts. In addition, the cultures of those who support the recovering individual affect the recovery process.

...will respect the spiritual, religious and/or secular beliefs of those they serve and provide linkages to an array of recovery options that are consistent with these beliefs.

...responds effectively to the individual's unique constellation of strengths, desires and needs.

SOCIAL/SPRITUAL ROLE...

• A deep sense of love and belonging is an irreducible need of all people. We are biologically, cognitively, physically, and spiritually wired to love, to be loved, and to belong. When those needs are not met, we don't function as we were meant to. We break. We fall apart. We numb. We ache. We hurt others. We get sick. Brene Brown
